YOUR SPIRITUAL LIFE?

29th Sunday in Ordinary Time - Year A

Father Arthur Marat

This Sunday's Gospel reminds us that good intentions are not enough to get us to heaven. Following Christ and leading a truly spiritual life takes discipline, effort, and perseverance. We cannot simply say "I believe in God" and expect to gain eternal life. We must strive to actually live according to what we proclaim to believe and to grow in an ever deeper relationship with God through prayer and leading a life of virtue. This might mean waking up to get in at least 15 minutes of prayer each morning, watching one show less to make time for a daily rosary, or making that sacrifice to remain quiet when it is just so tempting to speak.

I think it is important that we ask ourselves from time to time: What does my spiritual life look like and what steps can I take to be more faithful to my resolution to follow the Lord more closely and grow in a deeper relationship with Him? What can I do or change so that how I live is consistent with what I believe?

Yours in Christ,
Father Arthur

Grief Support Group for Adults - FALL, 2023

“Blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted.”

Our Lady of the Wayside Ministry of Bereavement offers a grief support program for adults.

This six- week program is open to adult men and women parishioners who have suffered the loss of a spouse, parent, adult child or sibling through death.

“Companions on the Journey” - A Place and a Time to Heal

Wednesdays - November 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, and December 6, 2023
10 am to 12 pm in the Our Lady of the Wayside Parish Ministry Center

Even with deep faith, grief work is hard. People say you should be “over it by now,” but you are not; you may feel lonely, angry, depressed, overwhelmed or confused; others have gone back to their daily routines, but your life will never be the same. Strong feelings may surface months, and even years after the person died. The goal of this group is to help you understand your feelings are normal; guide you in learning about the grief process; and give you a safe place to share your thoughts, feelings and experiences in a faith setting.

Tips for Packing Your Child's Lunch

Parents and caregivers face the sometimes-daunting responsibility of packing school lunches. If you're dreading the task, consider school lunches an opportunity to show your child your love for them while also providing them with the nutrition needed to fuel their brains and bodies so they can have a successful day at school.

Below are answers to a few questions pediatricians are frequently asked about school lunches.

How do you choose the right lunch box for your child?

The lunch box should provide easy access to food and be convenient for transport. Allow your child to help pick their lunch box, and practice opening it with younger children before the start of the school year.

How do you know you are sending enough food?

Pack nutrient-dense foods such as whole-grain bread with protein (hummus, non-deli meats, non-nut butters like sunflower butter, avocado or cheese), sliced vegetables and fruits, granola, sunflower seeds and dried fruits. Leftovers are also a good choice. Avoid packaged foods which typically have a high amount of salt, sugar and fat and promote cravings for more of the same. Real foods grow and will help keep your child satiated. If your teen stays after school for a sport or activity, they may also need a second quick meal.

Your child brought their entire lunch back home. What do you do?

Calmly ask your child why. Younger children may find the lunchroom to be busy and the lunch period too quick for them to settle down and eat. Maybe something got soggy and turned them off for the entire meal. Some children may feel different with their homemade lunch. No matter your child's response, you can make changes, but don't give up on healthy, homemade lunches. If your child wants to eat what their peers are eating, consider letting them have the school lunch twice a week and homemade lunch three times a week. You can offer their untouched lunch to them after school as another opportunity for them to look at what was offered. Stay calm and involve your child in problem solving. Don't give up. Nutritious foods are a key factor in kids' physical and mental health.

How do you keep them interested in their lunch?

- When children are young, try leaving small surprises in their lunch boxes like notes.
- As they grow, they can provide more input by coming to the grocery store or farmers market or choosing items from a list.
- Have them help with meal prep based on age-related abilities.
- Use small, reusable containers and utensils – these are both sustainable and fun.
- Try different shaped foods or rolling things up for younger children.

Parenting isn't easy. Find your network. Don't hesitate to speak with your child's pediatrician for additional advice or collaborate with other like-minded parents for further support and ideas. And remember – children notice your actions. Model good nutrition and behaviors around food for them. They are watching.

Seamless unity

We work best when we work together. A society pulling in opposite directions tears itself apart. The final prayer Jesus offers at the Last Supper is for unity among his friends. Saint Paul likewise implores his communities to be of one heart. Today, on Respect Life Sunday, we soberly confess that we can't both honor the sacred gift of life and allow poverty, injustice, exclusion, and indifference to remain unchallenged. Coincidentally, it's the International Day of Older Persons, in a world where people over 60 outnumber children under 5. Make this world a welcome place for everyone.

TWENTY-SIXTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

TODAY'S READINGS: Ezekiel 18:25-28; Philipians 2:1-11; Matthew 21:28-32 (136). "Complete my joy by being of the same mind, with the same love, united in heart, thinking one thing."

Watching over us

What exactly does the church teach about angels? "The existence of the spiritual, non-corporeal beings that Sacred Scripture usually calls 'angels' is a truth of faith," says the Catechism of the Catholic Church. The church venerates angels as servants and messengers of God. And one is particularly looking out for you. But, as Pope Francis says, not just to protect but to prod: "The angels help us; they push us to continue on the journey [of life]." These pure spirits who are in communication with God encourage us to "be not afraid" and take risks. Join the church in welcoming these—and your—special guardians.

MEMORIAL OF THE HOLY GUARDIAN ANGELS

TODAY'S READINGS: Zechariah 8:1-8 (455); Matthew 18:1-5, 10 (650). "I say to you that their angels in heaven always look upon the face of my heavenly Father."

The Lord loves justice

Mother Theodore Guerin, whose feast is today, was a missionary to the United States who established schools, a pharmacy, and orphanages. But her love of Christ made her denounce injustices, too. She described a slave auction: "These Americans, so proud of their liberty, thus make game of the liberty of others. Poor negroes! I would have wished to buy them all that I might say to them, 'Go! Bless Providence. You are free!'" Her mission continues today with her Sisters of Providence of Saint Mary-of-the-Woods, who strive for peace and justice, particularly in the area of racial equality and equity, criminal justice reform, human trafficking, and immigration. Take to heart Mother Guerin's words as you work to transform the world: "Above all things; justice, justice. If any preference may be shown let it be to the poorest or most abandoned."

TODAY'S READINGS: Zechariah 8:20-23; Luke 9:51-56 (456). "Every nationality, speaking different tongues, shall . . . say, 'Let us go with you, for we have heard that God is with you.'"

Make mercy your song to all creation

The feast of Saint Francis of Assisi is a great date to reflect on one's care for creation, as we are often wont to think all that matters in the spiritual life is our connection to God and other humans. The great Franciscan founder showed us by his life, including preaching to the creatures of the air and the field, that all of creation is listening to hear what we have to say. Is our message that of compassion and prudence, or rather convenience and the "throwaway culture"? Perhaps God himself is choosing to lend an ear by means of all God's creatures, great and small.

MEMORIAL OF FRANCIS OF ASSISI

TODAY'S READINGS: Nehemiah 2:1-8; Luke 9:57-62 (457). "Foxes have dens and birds of the sky have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to rest his head."

Mercy prevails

Saint Faustina Kowalska is one of a long list of saints who held low status but whose intense relationship with God fueled a power that gained attention. A peasant who became a nun assigned low-level jobs, Faustina's mystical visions of Jesus—at first doubted by church authorities—eventually were embraced widely. They are the foundation of Divine Mercy Sunday, characterized by an image of Jesus with rays of mercy emanating from his heart. Faustina's focus on God's mercy is a message that helped her native Poland through harrowing years of war and repressive government, and it continues to inspire. Commit yourself to an act of mercy today.

MEMORIAL OF FAUSTINA KOWALSKA, RELIGIOUS

TODAY'S READINGS: Nehemiah 8:1-4a, 5-6, 7b-12; Luke 10:1-12 (458). "Into whatever house you enter, first say, 'Peace to this household.'"

Leading indicators

The stories of the founders of religious institutes most often begin with reluctant souls who feel unworthy to accept such an important task. But, luckily for the church and all blessed by their service and legacy, they eventually take up the mantle of leadership. The decision is not without its benefits, according to Saint Bruno, founder of the Carthusians: "God gives his athletes the reward they desire: a peace that the world does not know and joy in the Holy Spirit." And, for Blessed Marie Rose Durocher, founder of the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary, prayer is key to finding the answers you seek when unsure of next steps: "I suggest that you pray to Our Lord that He assist you and give you the direction you need." Gain strength from the witness of these two great leaders.

MEMORIALS OF BRUNO, PRIEST; BLESSED MARIE ROSE DUROCHER, RELIGIOUS

TODAY'S READINGS: Baruch 1:15-22; Luke 10:13-16 (459). "Whoever rejects me rejects the one who sent me."

By any name

Today's celebration has seen a lot of changes over the centuries. It started out as the Feast of Our Lady of Victory to commemorate the Christian defeat of the Turkish army on this date in 1571. A few years later Pope Gregory XIII changed the name to the Feast of the Holy Rosary. Pope Clement XI in 1716 changed the date to August 5. Pius X changed it back to October 7. John XXIII changed the name to the Feast of the Blessed Virgin Mary of the Rosary. Then Paul VI changed the name to Our Lady of the Rosary. However you name it, today's Joyful Mysteries invite you to celebrate Christ in your life.

MEMORIAL OF OUR LADY OF THE ROSARY

TODAY'S READINGS: Baruch 4:5-12, 27-29; Luke 10:17-24 (460). "I have given you the power 'to tread upon serpents' and scorpions and upon the full force of the enemy and nothing will harm you."

GOSPEL MEDITATION:

October 1, 2023

26th Sunday in Ordinary Time

A life-long Catholic friend of mine recently mumbled to me, “I can’t stand all these converts to the faith. They’re always rocking the boat.” It surprised me because he is dedicated to evangelization, and yet he struggles with openness to new Catholics. It made me realize how easily I close my heart to those whom I perceive to be outsiders who become new members of the Catholic community. Almost unconsciously, I reduce the world to the categories of “us” and “them.” The result is that meaningful community silently shrinks in my life. Don’t we all do that to some degree?

This week Jesus’ punchy parable about the two sons blows up that black and white world. One son said he wouldn’t get to work, and then did. The other said he would, and then he did not. “Which did the will of his father?” asks the Lord. Like so many of us, in identifying the first as the answer, the religious authorities manifest hidden hypocrisy in refusing to follow Jesus. They — like us — intuit the correct path but simply won’t do it. The tax collectors and prostitutes are indeed following Jesus and thereby getting to work in the kingdom of God. Everyone is called to do God’s will regardless of the labels we may apply to them.

This week let’s reject the convenient but damaging categories of “insiders” and “outsiders.” Instead, let’s embrace a grateful attitude that Jesus is calling fallen, weak, and broken men and women like you and me. Then we begin to see that the tax collectors and prostitutes aren’t them. They are us. And Jesus wants all of us working in his boat, no matter the rocking.
